The Journal of Languages for Specific Purposes (JLSP) publishes studies on Applied Modern Languages (English, French, German and Italian) and Language teaching at academic levels of specialization for various professions or fields of activity.

The studies are double-blind peer reviewed and fall into one of the following categories: state-of-art articles, methodological studies, conceptual articles, original research reports, case studies, book reviews.

The languages of the papers are – according to the object of each study – English, French, German or Italian.

The recommended length for a study is between 8 and 10 pages, though longer contributions can be accepted if justified.

The instructions for authors provide the template format that shall be used for editing the papers for submission.

Please submit your articles by sending them to contact@jlspaceuoradea.ro
